AARC Call for Editors

AARC Members,

The Member-at-Large (Publication) for the Association for Assessment and Research in Counseling is honored to announce the call for editors for the journals Measurement and Evaluation in Counseling and Development and Counseling Outcome Research and Evaluation. The required information is provided below.

Warmly,

Andrew M. Burck, Ph.D.

Member-At-Large (Publications)

TITLE OF CALL: Call for Incoming Editor: Measurement and Evaluation in Counseling and Development

The Association for Assessment and Research in Counseling (AARC), a division of the ACA, is seeking applications for the position of editor for our journal Measurement and Evaluation in Counseling and Development (MECD). MECD is a national, peer reviewed journal with a readership comprised of counselors, educators, and other professionals interested in providing leadership, training, and research in the creation, development, production, and use of assessment and diagnostic techniques. Its mission is to promote and recognize scholarship, professionalism, leadership, and excellence in the development and use of assessment and diagnostic techniques in counseling. The appointment of editor is a 3 year term beginning July 1, 2017. Appointment is conditional upon the following qualifications:

- Experience as an editorial board member of a professional publication or similar experience such as Editor or Associate Editor of another publication.
- A record of scholarly publications in refereed journals.
- Demonstrated expertise in assessment and research methods (i.e. quantitative, qualitative, SSRD, etc.)
- An understanding of and commitment to the mission of AARC, including AARC membership and involvement if selected.
- Preference for those with a history of involvement with AARC/ACA affiliated organizations.

Job Description of the editor includes:

- Manage and maintain the editorial board activities.
• Select and make the final decisions on articles to be published by the journal.
• Ensure that communications regarding submissions or other questions and concerns about the journal are responded to within 2 business days of initial communication.
• Communicate quarterly and as indicated with the AARC Member-at-Large for Publications and Executive Council to provide information related to publication rates, articles published by the journal, and to provide a status report of the reviewers.
• Provide formal reporting of journal activities for Executive Council
• Host publications-related presentation with CORE Editorial staff at AARC annual conference related to strategies for publishing in MECD.
• Collaborate with the publisher to develop a marketing plan including selecting articles for promotion by the publisher.

Interested individuals should submit formal application materials containing the following by February 17, 2017: (a) current curriculum vita, (b) complete list of publications and reprints of no more than five of the applicant’s most significant publications, (c) statement of vision for the editorial direction for the CORE, and (d) statement from an administrator of the applicant’s institution or organization describing support for the appointment (if applicable). Reviews of candidates will begin February 17, 2017, and continue until filled. The appointment will be announced as soon as possible so as to facilitate the official transition of July 1, 2017. A verification of receipt will be sent within 48 hours of receipt. Materials should be submitted electronically (PDF) to:

Andrew M. Burck, PhD
AARC Member-At-Large Publication
burck@marshall.edu

TITLE OF CALL: Call for Incoming Editor: Counseling Outcome Research and Evaluation

The Association for Assessment and research in Counseling (AARC), a division of the ACA, is seeking applications for the position of editor for our journal Counseling Outcome Research and Evaluation (CORE). CORE provides counselor educators, researchers, and other mental health practitioners with outcome research and program evaluation practices for work with individuals across the lifespan. CORE presents topics such as treatment efficacy, clinical diagnosis, program evaluation, research, outcome measure review, and legal and culture concerns in assessment. The appointment of editor is a 3 year term beginning July 1, 2017. Appointment is conditional upon the following qualifications:

• Experience as an editorial board member of a professional publication or similar experience such as Editor or Associate Editor of another publication.
• A record of scholarly publications in refereed journals.
• Demonstrated expertise in assessment and research methods (i.e. quantitative, qualitative, SSRD, etc.)
• Demonstrate proficiency with outcome and program evaluation based research.
• An understanding of and commitment to the mission of AARC, including AARC membership and involvement if selected.
• Preference for those with a history of involvement with AARC/ACA affiliated organizations.

Job Description of the editor includes:

• Manage and maintain the editorial board activities.
• Select and make the final decisions on articles to be published by the journal.
Ensure that communications regarding submissions or other questions and concerns about the journal are responded to within 2 business days of initial communication.

Communicate quarterly and as indicated with the AARC Member-at-Large for Publications and Executive Council to provide information related to publication rates, articles published by the journal, and to provide a status report of the reviewers.

Provide formal reporting of journal activities for Executive Council

Host publications-related presentation with MECD Editorial staff at AARC annual conference related to strategies for publishing in CORE

Collaborate with the publisher to develop a marketing plan including selecting articles for promotion by the publisher.

Interested individuals should submit formal application materials containing the following by February 17, 2017: (a) current curriculum vita, (b) complete list of publications and reprints of no more than five of the applicant’s most significant publications, (c) statement of vision for the editorial direction for the CORE, and (d) statement from an administrator of the applicant’s institution or organization describing support for the appointment (if applicable). Reviews of candidates will begin February 17, 2017, and continue until filled. The appointment will be announced as soon as possible so as to facilitate the official transition of July 1, 2017.

A verification of receipt will be sent within 48 hours of receipt. Materials should be submitted electronically (PDF) to:
Andrew M. Burck, PhD
AARC Member-At-Large Publication
burck@marshall.edu